REPUBLICAN LEAGUE

Tenth Annual Convention in Session at Detroit.

Governor Pingree Delivers the Address of Welcome—Permanent Head Announced—President.

COLISEUM Hall, DETROIT, July 13.—Cool, pleasant weather was furnished for the opening of the tenth annual convention of the National League of Republican clubs, which was called to order considerably later than the scheduled hour of 10 o'clock this morning. The Detroit auditorium, naturally crude and unattractive in appearance, was beautified by a considerable display of patriotic decorations. The most striking feature in the decoration was a life-size portrait of President McKinley, surmounted by an eagle and surrounded by the stars and stripes. Directly opposite, in the rear of the hall, was a similar portrait of James G. Blaine. Pictures of Washington and Lincoln adorned the walls at either end of the big hall and the endless spaces, rafters and gallery fronts were hung with the red, white and blue and cockades of the states. A graduated tier of seats in the rear of the platform, having a capacity of 30 or more, was occupied by more or less notable visitors. The delegates, who were seated in state groups, filled nearly the entire floor space and the local public included on from the galleries. The states having the largest delegations were grouped in the front and center of the floor space, being occupied by Ohio, Michigan, Illinois, New York and Pennsylvania. The air was enlivened by band music while the crowd was gathering.

It was 10:30 when President Woodmansee rapped for order. The delegates had not yet settled down in the places assigned to them, and the galleries had almost no vacant seats. Rev. Dr. Robert J. Service, of the Trumbull avenue Presbyterian church, came forward to offer prayer. He prayed for a blessing on President McKinley, the governors of states and all others in authority, and that the national house might be saved from tarnishment.

President Woodmansee then introduced Governor Pingree to deliver the address of welcome on behalf of the state of Michigan. Mr. Pingree said:

Mr. Chairman and Members of the Republican League:

The republican party was born in Michigan. Your meeting here should therefore be an inspiration. You cannot fail to remember what it was that made it necessary that a new party should be formed. On behalf of the state I extend to you a cordial welcome. You are here in the interest of the party. You represent its working force. You know the necessity of organization. You know that this is an age of activity and progress and that parties, as well as men, must move forward or they will die. You can do a live upon memory or upon hope.

The republican party, from the day of its birth, became a great power, because it was the party of the people, and it will remain a great power so long as it remains the party of the people and no longer. It was controlled by men who believed in the great principle of equal rights, but it has been necessary to fight to keep what we have. The great masses of the people are honest and patriotic. They are willing to share the burdens of civilization if they can receive a few of its benefits. Sometimes they become impatient and demand an inspection of all the books. They, the people, know that they are not responsible for the present condition in this country. Farmers and mechanics, who are the principle burden bearers, wonder what has become of the old principle of equal taxation. They wonder how and why many privileged classes still exist in this republic. The people have been reading and studying. Some of them have even been thinking. They know that the principle of equal taxation is closely allied to the principle of equal rights, and that is a republican principle and they expect the republican party to enforce it, and they are going to see that it is enforced.

We hear a great deal said about the home market. It is the most valuable market we have. If I were going to destroy that market entirely I would favor the continued formation of trusts and combinations of capital. This would result in throwing about half of the workingmen out of employment and of wiping out small concerns and destroying individuality which is another name for patriotism. Then it would be only necessary to see that the greater portion of the taxes are collected from the working classes, and that all railroad companies and other watered stock concerns are taxed from one-third to one-seventh as much as the widow's cottage and the farmer's farm. The majority of the people are not in favor of destroying the home market in this way. Never was about the only man who rejoiced in the burning of Rome. He had a few favorites to whom he had promised the work of rebuilding. I have great faith that the right will prevail. The people are patriotic, and when they are betrayed by their representatives, they make other selections and try again. They expect relief from the republican party and they are willing to give it a fair trial. Your are here as the representatives of that party, from the top to the bottom, and your utterances and your recommendations will be awaited with interest, and if they are wise and true and practical, they will be received with welcome.

The governor was compelled to pause for a moment on account of an interruption caused by a ripple of applause at the entrance of the Illinois delegation, headed by Governor Tanner. Mr. Pingree's address was not in any sense a special eagle speech, and the applause was rather faint, coming mostly from his friends in the Michigan delegation. At one point the governor aroused a generous burst of applause by an interpolated reference to the miners' strike, expressing the hope that it would be successful.

Colonel Henry M. Duffield, of this city, welcomed the delegates on behalf of Detroit.

KILLED HIMSELF

To Escape From Disagreeable Marital Relations.

Williamsville Crowds the Forest Hills Cemetery, Taken Hurriedly With Unfinished Funeral.

LOS ANGELES, Cala., July 13.—Nicholas Crede, the millionaire mine owner, after whom the town of Crede, Colo., is named, committed suicide with his opinion last evening at his house in this city, because his wife, from whom he had separated, insisted upon renewing their marital relations. On June 4 last Crede and his wife separated and agreed to dissolve at once as far as possible which had been their marital bonds. Mrs. Crede accepted $30,000 cash and surrendered all further claims upon her husband, at the same time unfortunately withdrawing from his presence. It was understood, after the necessary time had elapsed, Crede would institute legal proceedings and begin suit for absolute divorce. At that time it appeared that both husband and wife were well satisfied that they were not required to maintain intimate relations and while Mrs. Crede considered that the amount of cash settled upon her was insignificant as compared with her husband's wealth, she then took up her home in Alabama. About three weeks ago Mrs. Crede returned to Los Angeles and proceeded to her husband's residence. This was made known to Crede's friends and he endeavored to avoid his wife, but being unsuccessful he determined to end his life. Last evening he took a large dose of morphine and went into the garden to die. He was discovered by a servant and taken to his room, where he died two hours later. Mrs. Crede was notified of her husband's death, but declined to discuss the tragedy. The two-year-old child of Edith Walker Walker, the woman, adopted by Crede over a year ago, is in care of his friends at Escondido.

LAID TO REST.

Senator Harris' Remains Arrived in Memphis Today.

The Remains Lay in State Awaiting the Morning, and Interment Was Made Late in the Afternoon.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., July 13.—The funeral train bearing the remains of Tennessee's distinguished senator, Hon. Isham G. Harris, arrived in this city at 10:30 o'clock this morning. At Nashville the Washington party was joined by Governor Taylor and many state officials, including Treasurer Craig, Comptroller Harris, Secretary of State W. S. Morgan, Adjutant Stokes, Hon. John Thompson, speaker of the senate, and Morgan Fitzpatrick, speaker of the house. Carriages were in waiting for the members of the funeral party and a magnificent hearse, heavily draped in black, received the casket holding the remains of the dead senator.

The confederate veterans, Captain Carnes commanding, in full uniform, acted as an escort of honor. The line of march was soon formed and the cortege started for the First Methodist church, at the corner of Poplar and Second streets in the following order:

Mounted police, the confederate veterans, pall bearers, the bereaved family of the deceased, congressional delegation, Governor Taylor and staff, various local committees.

Hundreds of citizens viewed the remains at the church where the remains were to be in state through out the morning.

The casket was placed in a large open area where thousands of citizens viewed the remains. The area had been appropriately draped by the ladies of Memphis and the services within the church were so impressive. Many rare floral tributes were dropped about the casket by old friends. The interment will take place at Elmwood cemetery late this afternoon.

John Andrews has received from his brother in London a copy of the London Illustrated News containing an elaborate account of the queen's jubilee. He was a resident of that city before he came to this country twenty years ago, and he finds a great deal of pleasure in looking over the engravings which contain so many scenes that are familiar to him. Mr. Andrews is the local manager for the R. L. Polk Directory company.

VERY SERIOUS.

Mine Owners See Defeat in Battle Now Waging.

The Miners Have the Advantage and Seem to Have the Ability to Control the Situation.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, July 13.—Within forty-eight hours developments of a very definite character are expected to take place in the West Virginia coal fields. A leading operator received a long distance telephone message at 10 o'clock this morning, stating that nine organizers had just left Pittsburg for the West Virginia coal fields. A person who occupies a high official position in the Mine Workers' union was at the Pittsburg end of the phone.

"You may look for something startling in that direction within the next forty-eight hours," he said. "Reliable advices which I have received this morning continue me the West Virginia miners will come out. All they wait for is a little urging from the union. I am free to confess to you that while I expected many men would come out, I never hoped for such a complete and overwhelming victory as this."

The foregoing message was repeated to a reporter, who was standing at hand by the operator who received it. When that point is reached that the coal mine operators hold West Virginia, the situation is grave indeed. The operators now urge upon their interviewers that under no circumstances must their names be used in connection with the information they have imparted. A leading operator made a plain statement to a Leader reporter in fact, this morning, but insisted his name must not be used.

"Is there not some parts of your statement which I may accredit to you?" asked the reporter.

"No. You see if I talked for publication I would have to say to you just the opposite of what I have said. You appreciate that there are many reasons why I should not want my name to appear as admitting all these facts."

Since Saturday the coal strike has assumed a very grave aspect, but it is realized by the leaders that the much Cleveland operators and dealers until today. Excepting a few operators who had some inside information, they were disposed to speak lightly of the matter, and loudly declare that there was coal in the hand, enough to supply the country, regardless of the outcome of the strike. Today all this assuming or pretended confidence has disappeared. Several operators went to Pittsburg yesterday to attend the voluntary reorganization of the Miners' association. One of these whose knowledge of the premises is above question, said today:

"The situation is very grave and I anticipate some very startling developments within the next forty-eight hours. I believe the West Virginia miners will come out and that will make the tie up practically complete, for the strikers will then concentrate all their efforts on the DeAmitie men. A small amount of coal is now coming from the mines along the Pennsylvania main line and from the river mines, but it is in comparatively insignificant quantities. I think it will be shut off entirely very soon. From what I could learn yesterday at Pittsburg I do not hesitate to say that in my belief the railroads will hesitate to haul West Virginia and Pennsylvania coal. The engineers and trainmen are regarding the situation with lowering brows. P. M. Arthur's statement to the contrary notwithstanding. The supply of coal on hand is very short and I look for a lively bidding war for it, price shortly. Saturday coal, which was loaded at Pittsburg for $1.25 to $1.50 f. o. b. is now held at $1.75. Delivered to Cleveland the price is $2.65. Chicago is buying freely and is paying high prices. I do not think the supply will hold out more than a month longer."

PITTSBURG, July 13.—The arbitration commissioners, representing the five states in which the miners are now striking, will make a strong effort today to bring the operators and miners to an understanding that will result in amicably reconciling their differences. The Ohio, Indiana and Pennsylvania commissioners were transferred today by those from Illinois and West Virginia. The Illinois members are Daniel J. Keefe, Edward Ridgeley and Horace L. Wilgus. T. V. Powderly, labor statistician, is here to represent West Virginia.

Highwaymen Demand Street Car Men's Money.

A Bold Hold-Up in Which Conductor Dye Dobson and Motorman Frank Baker Are the Victims.

Last night, shortly after 10 o'clock, as Conductor Dye Dobson and Motorman Frank Baker were running the trolley of their car at the extreme west end of the Main street line, two highwaymen appeared and demanded their money. Inasmuch as the men displayed cold looking guns, the street car employes complied with the request of "hands up," and while in this attitude their pockets were rifled of all they contained. The robbers got about $75 in money and a watch from Dobson and a couple of dollars from the motorman. After securing their booty the robbers told the street car men to "open" and they lost no time in doing so. At the Grand Rapids and Indiana railroad bridge Officer Trubers boarded the car and was told to hold up his hands and tried to get a peep of the highwaymen, but they had disappeared.

WILL SHUT OUT AMERICANS.

Canada Decides to Put the Alien Labor Law Into Force.

OTTAWA, Ont., July 13.—At a meeting of the cabinet yesterday the dominion government decided to put the alien labor law in force in Manitoba, the northwest and British Columbia. As a consequence the minister of justice, Sir Oliver Mowat, is to whom the putting of the law in operation has been left by parliament, will appoint agents to eliminate the act in Winnipeg, Manitoba, Lethbridge, Northwest Territory, and Rossland, in British Columbia.

The idea of hastening to put the act in operation in these districts is on account of the building of the Canadian Pacific railway, so as to shut out American contractors and workmen and give the proceeds for the work to Canadian labor.

The customs department here is also preparing an order to the collections all along the boundary line in the west to charge full customs duties on all material that may be brought into the country from the United States by parties who may be intending to work on the road. After today the alien labor law will be in force in Manitoba, the northwest and British Columbia.

As he sat in the rear seat of a passenger coach somebody entered behind him and shot him through the head. The murderer then jumped from the train and escaped. Later it was learned that Haley had discharged Edmunds who had been in his crew, and that the latter had come to this city in an intoxicated condition. Edmunds has made no statement, but an empty cartridge shell was found in one of his pockets when he was arrested and the police feel confident of being able to fix the crime upon him.

TWO LIVES LOST.

Bertha Yarnelle and Georgia Coulter Drowned at Winona.

Self Boat on Eagle Lake Capsized and the Pleasure Party of Five Thrown Into the Lake—Three Saved.

One of the most distressing accidents which have been of considerable local interest for a long time occurred at Eagle lake, Warsaw, about 7 o'clock last evening and the shocking details will cause widespread sorrow and sadness throughout the community generally. A small boat containing five persons capsized and Miss Bertha Yarnelle, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Yarnelle, of this city, was one of the drowned. The other victim was Miss Georgia Coulter, a daughter of John M. Coulter, president of the Northwestern university, Chicago.

The accident was the result of the capsizing off Yarnelle point of a pleasure yacht, the only sail boat on the lake. The party which started out for a pleasure cruise around the lake consisted of Miss Bertha Yarnelle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Yarnelle of this city, Miss Georgia Coulter, jr., son of Prof. John M. Coulter, Will S. Gray, son of Rev. Dr. Gray, editor of the Interior, Chicago, and the two unfortunate victims. The boat had been rented in Winona and the attempt was made to bring it about, when the accident occurred. The boat turned completely over twice Coulter and Gray, who were expert swimmers, managed to get the girls into the boat, but had no water hose so that the boat turned over once more and they were again in the water. Coulter succeeded in getting Miss Munson to a position where she could cling to the boat and turned to assist in saving the others. They had disappeared. The men dived until they were almost exhausted when William Schaupner, a boatman who had discovered that something was wrong, rowed to the scene and with George Ritter assisted in the search for the bodies of the drowned girls and took the rescued ones to the shore. The body of Miss Yarnelle was found lodged on the rigging of the overturned boat, but it was impossible to locate the body of Miss Coulter, which had gone down in ninety feet of water. Expert divers were telegraphed for and the remains of the young young lady will probably be recovered today.

The news of the accident was received with grief at Winona and in this city. At the home his daughter was drowning Mr. Yarnelle was informed by a quartet for Sunday music in the presence of a few friends. The news was so sudden to the stricken by the terrible announcement of death.

Miss Bertha Yarnelle was the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Yarnelle. She was fifteen years old and was a member of the junior class of the Central school. She was a bright and lovable girl in whom everybody felt an interest. Her young girlhood promised the development of a beautiful character and perfect womanhood. Her death has caused a shadow of sorrow to rest upon the city.

In Sunday schools and Christian Endeavor circles Bertha Yarnelle was a foremost worker in the First Presbyterian church. She was always striving to do some good and was never so happy as when asking you to attend some meeting or do this than herself. There were only some of the traits of her beautiful young character.

The two bereaved families are among the most prominent in Indiana. E. F. Yarnelle, of Monroe, Yarnelle & Co., at Main and Clinton streets, this city, has been one of the most widely known tenor singers in the state. Professor Coulter's family is known all over the northwest. Before going to Chicago he was president of the state university at Bloomington, succeeding Dr. David Starr Jordan. Prior to that he was a professor at Wabash college, at Crawfordsville, and is a botanist of world wide reputation. He was president of Lake Forest university, Chicago, before going to Chicago university. Both of the girls had been taught beautiful with every promise of a happy and useful life. The Yarnelle family has been at Winona for many years during the summer season. Professor Coulter's family has been there but a few days and this is the first year. Professor Coulter for has taken charge of Winona summer school.

A short time before the fatal sail Miss Yarnelle was in the drug store and spoke of the danger of sailing, and referred to the fact that there had been no personal accident to the party. It was spoted How the boat capsized will probably never be fully known. The young men say that the girls jumped to the wrong side when a lack was made. Schaupner, the boatman, asserted that the boat must have "gotten" as he found the water up to the main boom but left the blocks.

The remains arrived in this city at 12:30 and were conveyed to the residence, 227 West Wayne street. The funeral services will be held at the house tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. Burial private. Dr. McCall will officiate.

The school board met yesterday afternoon and after transacting some routine business, informally discussed the opening of a training school in this city. The members of the board have talked with graduates of several normal schools and think that a training school can be opened here to a great advantage.

DR. IRWIN.

Well Known Citizen Lectures Fort Wayne for Lafayette.

With Wake That City He Thinks Should Have Been One of the Prominent Stations of the Way.

This morning Dr. J. H. Irwin, who so many years honored the position of superintendent of the public schools of Fort Wayne, left with his family for Lafayette, Ind., where they will reside permanently. The departure of Dr. Irwin from a community which has learned to know and respect him highly will cause universal regret. He leaves behind him pleasant recollections, a great deal of good and also that he may be in the midst of his family. His daughter being connected with Purdue university has been obliged to make that city her home. It is understood that the decree will include his brother there with his son, George, with whom he has for some time engaged in the insurance business in this city. Dr. Irwin first became a citizen of Fort Wayne in 1853, when he was employed as a bookkeeper in the bank of Allen Hamilton, with whom he remained eleven years. He was then made a teller of the old Merchant's bank, which position he retained until 1863, when, on account of ill health, he was compelled to resign. He then spent a year travelling for a life insurance company. In April 1864 he was elected a member of the city school board, on which he held the place of secretary and treasurer ten years, when the superintendent of schools, Dr. J. H. Smart, now president of Purdue university, having been elected state superintendent of public instruction, Dr. Irwin was elected superintendent of the city schools. This position he held until his resignation a year ago, when J. N. Study, the present incumbent, succeeded him.

Summer is not over, don't forget that fact.

It was was not so hot after all last week to think about it now.

The heat record has been broken. Over 3,000,000 packages have been distributed. That is about 40,000 to a congressman and more than one for each voter.

An eclipse of the sun, partial in the United states, will occur on the morning of July 29. There are times when humanity thinks that such events are altogether too rare.

"I am going to revolt against the belief that truth resides in the majority," says Thurs. What sort of truths are those which the majority want to take up? Truths as full of years that they are decrepit?

We are going to have a new tariff all right, but what about currency reform? During the campaign of last year the republican leaders not only succeeded the tariff to the money question, but in some cases they instructed their speakers to say nothing whatever about protection. This was supposed to be necessary in order to win the votes of the gold democrats. Many such votes were won, but what of the pledge given to the men who cast them? And how can the republicans hope to be believed next time?—Indianapolis News-Bell.

There was probably full justification for the conduct of the Atlanta woman who left her husband because he shaved off his whiskers. A man ought to stick to the face in which he wins and marries his wife.

That a rolling stone may sometimes gather moss appears from the fact that a guard on the Great Western railroad in England has just been given a purse of 100 guineas for being the greatest traveler in the world. His journeyings back and forth have amounted to 4,000,000 miles in forty years.

The Japanese minister denies emphatically that there is any disposition on the part of his government to get into a war with the United states about Hawaii. This denial will enable the American people to resume their nightly rest—if they are permitted to do so by the heat and the mosquito.

The Christian Endeavor convention at San Francisco was the largest in the history of the organization and certainly one of the great religious gatherings that has ever been held in the world. The crowds present rivaled those at the great national political conventions. The convention crowded as much in point in San Francisco as would the gathering of the clans of either of the great political parties of the country. Not only were the halls crowded, but the streets were packed for blocks with eager throngs. The carrying of the Christian Endeavor cross across the continent was one of the most remarkable railroad feats ever performed. It will be noticed that aside from the multitudes brought together at the political conventions, which are natural and proper manifestations of the interest of a free people in their government, the largest gatherings of the people are drawn out by religious and benevolent causes.

A vein of truth is contained in this paragraph from the New Albany Ledger: "There is no country in the world that is so bountiful in its products or that gives such rich rewards to industrious industry as our own green land. Here there should be plenty at all times for those who in any degree merit it, and it would be so, regardless of the mutations in business and trade, if the people were not diverted from legitimate channels of efforts to go rainbow chasing for ease and for times which tempt all to destruction."

On the 26th of the month one of those phenomena will take place that from time immemorial have never failed to engage the attention of and chill the wonder of mankind, namely, an eclipse. Even those that are quite familiar with the cause that produces it, and may even be capable of understanding the intricate calculations necessary for the prediction, cannot suppress a feeling of awe on beholding this most interesting of all the phenomena of nature. The eclipse will be an annular one, visible on this continent as a partial one. In our latitude it will begin at half past 8 o'clock in the morning and end twelve minutes past 11 o'clock.

Representative Hammond, of Minnesota, who is the last and present congress introduced a bill for a currency commission. Has been consulting with members of the committee on rules and other leaders of the house as to a special order for considering a bill in case a commission should be recommended by the president. The lateness of the session and the poor prospect of any action in the senate do not, Mr. Hammond thinks, give much encouragement for believing that any financial plan will be considered in the house until next session. The feeling in the house seems to be that if the tariff bill is out of the way little or no other business will be transacted at this session.

KENNEDY WILL BE FREED.

Governor Mount of Indiana, Said to Have Decided Upon His Parole.

Indianapolis, Ind., July 12.—Governor Mount has positively decided upon pardoning William W. Kennedy, a life prisoner at Michigan City, provided his physical condition is such as represented and the Monon railway has provided Kennedy with free transportation, and the latter will come here today that the governor may personally confer with him. The governor said that the question of his guilt or innocence was not being considered, although he believed him to be an innocent man, but it was represented to him that Kennedy was suffering with tuberculosis and humanity demanded that he be paroled. Kennedy is the convict for whom his sister, Kate Kennedy, of Cincinnati, has made such a heroic fight.

Probably half the people who see this article suffer from piles. It is one of the commonest diseases and one of the most obstinate. Doubtless have for years and just because it is not immediately fatal they neglect it. It is a disease that grows on one by stealth. Commences about as simple a thing as piles but often ends death.
